COLOMBIA,
STYLISH HOTELS

When you wake up in a hotel in the middle of the jungle, with a view to the Caribbean through one window and a view to a snow peak through the other, or perhaps in a hotel that floats on the Amazon River, on a colonial house turned boutique hotel in a city declared World Heritage site, on a private island or in a coffee villa, you may well discover that pleasure goes way beyond absolute comfort.

Pleasure is an experience that becomes the best in the ranking of your memories. Today we do not want to invite you to get acquainted with our modern cities, our beaches on two oceans, rainforests, deserts, mountains, or activities to suit any taste. Today we invite you to experience them, to feel the warmth of our people, to comfortably experience the most exotic and least known of destinations: Colombia. A country that is difficult to forget, a place where pleasure is not out of reach, a country where the risk is wanting to stay.

CARTAGENA DE INDIAS

"How can you not stay to live in Cartagena de Indias, a place that looks like a movie set and makes you feel like the main character?"

Salvo Basile Italian in love with Colombia

CARTAGENA DE INDIAS

You will feel you are living in the times of the Spanish Conquest while enjoying the pleasures of a modern city

In this walled city, a World Historical Heritage, you will tour narrow, romantic streets on a colonial carriage drawn by elegant horses. During the tour, you will pass by the Santo Domingo Plaza, where you can have a drink near the doors of a great church. Later, you can experience the delirium of a night of partying in true Cartagena de Indias style: at times in open-air bars and discos, at times on terraces with a view over the historic center, but always accompanied by beautiful voices, flutes, called "gaitas", drums and accordions.

Those you prefer a more relaxed program may end up their day with a stimulating Sparty. This novel concept combines facial and body rituals with fruit refreshments (with or without alcohol), a balanced dinner and lounge and tropical music. However, other gastronomic alternatives will be available: from the traditional recipes of a native cook to the exquisite preparations of chefs who are members of the Chaine des Rotisseurs and restaurants as renowned as Juan del Mar and the Club de Pesca.

Cartagena de Indias offers an exquisite collection of luxury houses for rent by tourists. No two are alike and they have their own history and attractive interior details that seduce guests. They offer personalized services and promise a charming stay. This is about the pleasure of feeling at home in a mansion completely appointed with luxury furniture, relaxing spaces, amenities and a well-trained staff. You may prefer an imposing property in the countryside with spectacular landscapes and regions full of authenticity and marvelous sensations to remember. Waking up in the midst of the dew and the aroma of nature in beautiful valleys or plains, riding Colombian Paso Fino horses and eating fruit you pick from a tree are some of the sensations you may enjoy. You will find autochthonous sites, completely equipped villas, farm animals, vehicles available and a variety of food and handicrafts. There are also private mansions and colonial hotels that used to be the seat of convents and the homes of historical figures. Not far from them, you can visit interesting museums and monuments like the Clock Tower, the Heredia Theater and the famous India Catalina.

Aside from imposing cruises, Cartagena de Indias offers the privilege of sailing on a private boat to the islands of Rosario, Barú and San Bernardo, where you may engage in diving, kayaking, sailing and professional fishing. You will also visit an exotic bird vivarium and an oceanarium with dolphins, sharks, turtles and millions of tropical fish. At night you can swim in the fluorescent marine plankton or simply observe a star-lit sky while the breeze gently caresses the surface of the sea.

Another recommended attraction is the village of San Jacinto, just a few minutes away from Cartagena, in a land that inherited the typical weaving of Indian hammocks.

CALI - VALLE DEL CAUCA

Not for nothing is it called a subsidiary of heaven

Catching the rhythm of the salsa capital of the world is only the beginning of the trip. In Cali you can be a spectator to famous dance shows or be a part of the salsa culture by venturing on the dance floor. Visiting the Granada section is another must, it is an enclave that brings together the exclusive restaurants that will allow you to see the other side of the "taste" of the inhabitants of the city.

Then muster the zest to vibrate with the bullfighting season and the Cali Fair, one of the most important fairs in the world.

In the surroundings of the city, you can enjoy sugar cane landscapes, the nature of its mountains and the majesty of Calima Lake, famous for water sports and beautiful landscapes. If you prefer, you may visit the city of Buga and its imposing Cathedral, the home of the famous Lord of Miracles.

Lovers of ecological tourism and diving can discover in the Pacific Ocean a unique setting: virgin jungles, an ocean with an impressive fauna that includes humpback whales during their August visit to the area, and cabins far from the din of big cities.

HOTEL
CASA DEL ALFÉREZ

The architecture of this hotel is colonial-style modern, with a central patio, wooden floors, and balconies in forged iron. It is located in the northwest section of Cali in a central, quiet, forested section with a slightly cooler temperature. The atmosphere is cozy, comfortable, and very safe.

The Ginger'n'Garlic Restaurant offers a wide selection of Asian-Mediterranean food in an elegant, welcoming atmosphere. You may enjoy the traditional Alférez Buffet for breakfast, and lunch and dinner with an ample selection of wines.

HOTEL AUSTRAL

This was the first hotel in Cali designed to provide a very different hotel experience. Its design, added to its good taste and original finishings, gives a twist to the conventional idea of a hotel.

The rooms were based on the idea of giving guests a new sensation of relaxation under the frame of a luminous, forceful image that varies from one room to another. The best excuse for capturing a guest is a delicious breakfast on the terrace or a business meeting or dinner in any of the exclusive restaurants of the area, in addition to the breeze, the Cali landscape, and a contemporary ambience.

We are passionate about design as much as for providing new sensations to our guests; we find the commonplace (to the full extent of the word) boring. We are inspired by architecture, interior design, art, and above all, by the idea of having our guests come back. Something new will always be waiting for them.

BOGOTÁ

Always something new to do

Bogotá is a cosmopolitan city where business opportunities and cultural activities grow side by side with the unique beauty of the countryside. In its historic center, more specifically in La Candelaria section, quaint narrow streets and large colonial and republican mansions abound. Not far and surrounded by acrobats and street storytellers, it is possible to visit the Plaza de Bolivar and take the cable car to the Monserrate peak, from which the city looks more beautiful and imposing.

The northern section of Bogotá is modern and developed. Wide avenues, parks and bicycle paths share space with tall buildings, brand name boutiques and art, decoration and handicraft shops to suit any taste. Dining in an exclusive author restaurant choosing from an international or typical Colombian menu is a pleasure well worth repeating.

The scenery of the surroundings of Bogotá offers memorable experiences. Traveling by car, with a private driver and a private guide, it is possible to tour majestic haciendas and picturesque towns like Tenjo, Tabio and Subachoque that lie in the Savanna of Bogotá side by side with mountains and multicolored crops. The same road that goes to these towns will take you to one of the greatest marvels of the country: the town of Zipaquirá, where an immense salt mine open to tourists will amaze you with an imposing underground cathedral. Further north, is Villa de Leyva, a lovely town of white houses and cobble stone streets that has been the setting for a number of films. Your tour may include playing golf and horseback riding through colorful mountains.

An appealing plan is to spend a few days on an hacienda near Tabio. A close look at Paso Fino horse raising and learning to take a drink of aguardiente (sugar cane spirits) to calm the nerves before a horseback ride are a genuine Colombian pleasure that will remain in your mind for a long time.

HOTEL
CASA DE LA BOTICA

In the historic quarter of La Candelaria, on a street by the same name and not far from the seats of the most important political institutions of the country, stands Hotel Casa de la Botica.

Its history goes back to the times of the struggle for independence. Heroes like Antonio Nariño, the owners of the former house and famous printer Antonio Espinosa de los Monteros met there to translate and print the Declaration of the Rights of Man, thus initiating the movement for Independence and ending up in prison. It was also a meeting place for literary discussion groups.

Undoubtedly, its architectural features and its size and location compete favorably in traditional Bogotá hotel keeping. Our size makes it easy to provide first-rate personalized services. Here guests will have the possibility of enjoying the magic of the city's center due to its location between the Congress of the Republic and the Colegio de San Bartolomé, and very close to the Palacio de Nariño (where the President has his offices), government institutions and the most important museums in the country.

HOTEL
DE LA ÓPERA

The Hotel de la Ópera rises from a careful restoration project carried out in two houses with a rich historical past, adjacent to the Colón Theater in old Bogotá. They were the seat of the first encomenderos, that is, the Spaniards who first received land grants from the Spanish Crown. Many years later, the personal guards of Liberator Simón Bolívar were housed there.

The hotel offers a warm, peaceful environment with generous spaces and balconies overlooking cobblestone streets. The rooms are decorated in an authentic Italian style in the midst of an environment replete with history.

The Hotel de la Ópera offers exquisite food in its two restaurants: La Scala, with Italian and Mediterranean food; and El Mirador, with typical and international food. Visitors prefer the latter because of its romantic atmosphere and the incomparable view on the roofs of the old city and the steeples of colonial churches.

There is a charming space called Thermae Spa, conceived for the rest, relaxation and quiet entertainment of guests, with a wet zone and a pool in an authentic Roman style.
